

Haynes Hanson & Clark

WINE MERCHANTS

Chianti Colli Senesi, Campriano, 2021

Tuscany, Italy

PRODUCER

Located 17km south of Siena, close to the village of Murlo, the Campriano estate comprises 350 hectares of oak forest, arable land and olive groves, including 15 hectares of vines. The farm buildings date back to the 15th century, the Neri family having acquired the property in 1914. This has always been Ranuccio Neri's family home and he began working on the farm in 1993. With a degree in Agricultural Sciences and having spent time gaining experience at local wine estates (including Castello di Ama), Ranuccio's primary goal at the time was to rebuild the vineyards, modernise the cellar and launch estate-bottled wines onto the market. Between 1995 and 1998 Ranuccio went on to develop his technical training, including studies and research at UC Davis and at the University of Bordeaux. More than 20 years on, he has an infectious enthusiasm for Tuscany and its wines.

VINEYARDS

15 hectares. Vine age ranges from 5-54 years.

WINEMAKING

Fermented and matured in stainless steel tanks, prior to bottling before the next harvest.

TASTING NOTES

Bright ruby in the glass, aromas are open and fragrant, recalling fresh red cherries and Christmas spices. Palate is medium bodied and generously flavoured, finishing silky and lively.

Grape Varieties 80% Sangiovese, 15% Canaiolo & 5% Cilieggiolo

Vintage 2021

ABV 13.5%

Style Red

Body Medium

Oaked Unoaked

Closure Cork

Notes